Hiram Powers.
dispatch in another column of this morning's INTELLIGENCER announces the leath of this distinguished sculptor, at Florence, Italy, yesterday morning, after Death of Hiram Powers the Ameriu lingering illness. Mr. Powers was born Woodstock, Vt., July 29, 1805. He was the eighth of a family of nine children, and passed his youth on his father's farm, acquiring the rudiments of a district school education, and some knowl edge of drawing and of various kinds of handicraft. The farm proving unsuccess ful, he emigrated with the family to Ohio, and upon the death of his father, soon after established himself in Cincinnati where, after being successively employed in a reading room connected with one of the hotels and in a produce store, he procured a situation with a clock-maker or whom he collected debts, besides aiding in the mechanical part of the busuess. About this time he became ac quainted with a German sculptor, from whom he learned the art of modeling in plaster, and after a little practice he was able to produce plaster busts of considerable merit. The taste for art fostered by this employment induced him to form unection with the Western Museum at Cincinnati, the waxwork department of which was for seven years under his direction. Aspiring to a higher walk in his profession, and feeling that he might depend for a support upon his labors as a eculptor, he repaired in 1835 to Washington, and was for some time profitably eugaged in modeling busts of distinguished men. With the proceeds derived from these efforts and by the assistance of the late NICHOLAS LONGWORTH, of Cincinnati, he was enabled in 1837 to carry into effect a long cherished desirto visit Italy. In the same year he established himself in Florence, which, to Rome and elsewhere, has continued ever since to be his home, and for several months devoted himself chiefly to modeling busts. Gradually gaining confidence in his powers and facility in the use of the chisel, he produced in 1838 an ideal statue of Eve, which excited the admiration of the great THOMELSEN, who prosounced it a work of which any sculptor might be proud to claim as his masterpiece. A year later he finished the model of his Greek Slave," his most widely known and popular work, and of which upward of six duplicates in marble are in existruce, besides an immense number of plaster casts and reduced copies in parian. Among other well known works by him are the "Fisher Boy," of which three repetitions in marble have been produced; Il Penseroso;" " Proserpine," a bust; California:" " America." modeled for the crystal palace at Sydenham, England; and portrait statues of Washington for the State of Louisiana, and of Calhoun for South Carolina, The latter, his best

Of his busts, which comprise by far the greater part of the productions of his chisel, those of ADAMS, JACKSON, WEB-STER, CALHOUN, Chief Justice MARSHALL, EVERETT, VAN BUREN and other distinguished Americans, are well known and triking specimens. Mr. Powers was the inventor of a process of modelling in plaster, which by obviating the necessity of

Some Rights for Women. Int in Illinois, women are eligible as Ont in limous, women are eligible as school trustees, as these officers are generally in hot water, and are not extravaorally in hot water, and are not extravacraily in hot water, and are not extravagantly paid, if paid at all, the men allow the women to hold them—the offices. The same rule of eligibility prevalls in New Jersey. It is a sensible rule, and might well be put in force elsewhere. If any portion of the community is interested in the schools, it is the women. In Obio, another advance has been made. The Constitutional Convention has adopted a section which provides that women, though not endowed with the elective franchise, may be appointed to any office, not an elective one, by the Governor or other appointing power. Eighty-eight votes favored this measure, and there were but three against it. One good result of this will be the selection of women as trustees of State institutions, in many of the provider that works are comprehending in fall knowledge of our profession.
